PRICE—5 CENTS

NICARAGUA WILL PAY

On Condition That Corinto Be Evacuated

AND THE FLEET WITHDRAWN

The British Government Wants the Money Paid in the Presence of the Fleet.

NICARAGUA, Nicaragua, April 30.—The Nicaraguan government has formally decided to accede to the compromise proposition for a settlement of the pending trouble, and this decision has been communicated to the authorities at Washington and London.

Nicaragua agrees to pay £15,500 in London fifteen days from the time the British ships leave the harbor of Corinto. It now remains for Great Britain to agree to this condition.

Nicaragua's course is regarded as shifting out to Great Britain the further responsibility for any trouble. Positive assurances for the payment of the money have been given.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The Maingat dispatch states that Nicaragua has agreed to compromise, by which she will pay £15,500 on condition that Corinto be evacuated and that the British fleet withdraw, is accepted by the official London authorities up to the latest status of the subject.

Attention is now directed to London to see whether the condition of immediate evacuation will be granted. If it is, the truth is practically an end. If it is not, it is believed in diplomatic circles that it will bring a renewal of reports that Great Britain is not so much anxious to settle as to continue in active occupation of Corinto.

At the state department the news that Nicaragua will pay the £15,500 indemnity within fifteen days after the departure of the British troops was seemingly expected, though no direct advice had been received by the department.

In fact, Minister Baker is now in Costa Rica, and there is very little communication between this government and the legation at Managua. It was learned at the department that the acceptance by Nicaragua of the terms which have been proposed does not mean that the British fleet will withdraw, as accepted by the official London authorities up to the latest status of the subject.

ON SHORT RATIONS.

STARVATION FACES SAN FRANCISCO PRISONERS.

The Men Will Get the Last Meal the Superintendent has This Morning.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—The condition of affairs at the San Joaquin county jail today assumed a more serious aspect. When the 202 inmates left the dining-room tables at 5 o'clock they had disposed of the last morsels of food that could be scraped together for an evening meal, and when they have taken breakfast in the morning of cornmeal mush, syrup, potatoes and coffee, they will have eaten the last foot of the harder com- taining. Then, if no relief comes, starvation faces the prisoners. None are more painfully aware of this fact than the prisoners themselves. Superintend- ent Oberholser was so exercised at the condition of the men, he said, as to go to the employ party, said: "In the morning the men will get the last meal we have for them. It will consist of some meal, potatoes and coffee, and their supplies are all gone. Until they send some new supplies, I don't know what I am going to do. I cannot turn the prisoners loose upon the world, for Sheriff Whelan is held responsible for their safe keeping, under heavy bonds, and when I cannot look them up, I'll take the men from their work to-day and put them on short rations. The horses were turned out into the field to graze, for not one ounce of fodder is left."

"I tell you this is getting to be mighty serious business and it's about time something turned up."

At the Almshouse they are not so badly fixed. With the exception of bread and potatoes, which will last them through to-morrow, they will have provisions enough to carry them to the end of the week. The city hospital is even better supplied.

The fire department supplies of horse feed will be completely exhausted by to-morrow morning. The horses have only been kept from going hungry so far by feeding half rations and dividing the odds and ends of hay among the horses. The last straw will be eaten up in the morning.

Mr. Gordon's body was found with a bullet in the head, and his body was covered with blood, showing that one or both had been shot while in that position, or in the struggle one or more of the wounded had fallen there. Gordon himself was covered with blood, most of which doubtless was the result of contact with his antagonist.

What part, if any, Mrs. Gordon took in the encounter her husband only in a position to say. Two bullets are imbedded in the door, one went through a window, the other went through the wall and came in the ceiling. The walls are smeared with blood. The dimy carpet on the floor is saturated with gore, and the furniture was badly broken in the fray. Brown's body presented a horrible appearance, being covered with blood. There was no clothing on the body except a pair of drawers and a pair of socks. There were three wounds in the breast, one of them being over the region of the heart; two in the head, one being a bullet hole in the temple, and another in the center of the skull. The heart was still another in the right arm.

Mr. Gordon's body was found on the ceiling, face downward, clothed only in a chemise and a skirt. Her hair was loose and hanging about her head in a tangled mass. Her bosom was covered with blood, and her skirt was covered with it.

THE SAN FRANCISCO PRESS

A representative of a San Francisco paper was in Fresno not long ago, and while here he discussed the present conduct of the Call, which paper he did not represent. He said: "The Call, under its new management, is a failure. Its managing editor has gone to the city from the country, where he had a decent local paper, and he is trying to introduce provincial ideas into metropolitan journalism. Of course the attempt is bound to be a failure." The assertion was not disputed, for the reason that his hearer preferred to bask in the light of his metropolitan glory and dimly reflect the lustre of his metropolitan intellect, rather than to enter into an argument with him.

Nevertheless, to point a moral which we would deduce in this article, the assertion shall here be disputed. The Call under its present management is not a failure; on the contrary, it is forging right to the front among San Francisco papers, and this is the reason of the very petty dissatisfaction (or jealousy) with that paper which we have heard expressed, by representatives of rival newspapers, not alone in the case we cite.

And now to our moral: The Call is succeeding. Why? Precisely because it is introducing not provincial—as the gentleman was pleased to term them—but cosmopolitan ideas to its readers. Heretofore the San Francisco press has made the serious mistake of representing only that city, and but a part of it, at that. It has not been in touch with the rest of the state, and in a strangely blind way it has failed to note that the welfare of the interior and the metropolis are so bound up together that what injures the one injures the other, and that what advances the one advances the other. The history of the San Francisco papers demonstrates the truth of this assertion, and we write with the remark of a prominent writer of that city still lingering in our memory. He said: "Oh, d—n the country; it doesn't count!" There is the text; the metropolitan papers of every day are the sinner.

Against this narrow and less than provincial spirit the Call's present policy is a protest. That it will win is as certain as that more than three-fourths of the people of the state live outside of the city. It is winning; the improvement in the appearance of the Call, both daily and weekly; the constantly increasing demand for it, and the broad and enlightened spirit in its editorial columns are the proof of the fact. The San Francisco newspaper representative named the Call's surest qualification for success, and termed it a defect.

Fresno's bribery scandal in connection with the county hospital site, now that the case is on trial, does not improve any in appearance. The architect avers that he paid $1000 to Dr. C. H. Balson, the county physician, to have his plans accepted. Supervisor Brown, who is alleged to have been a party to the transaction, refuses to testify, on the ground that his evidence would tend to criminate himself, and although the court-room jury may not heed this fact, the outside jury will be apt to consider that it looks bad for Brown. Several members of the grand jury swear that Ward, the third party to the alleged transaction, admitted in his evidence before the grand jury that he received two-thirds of the money and divided it with Brown. On the whole, it looks very much as if a very corrupt mess had been stirred up in Stockton. If the case is as bad as it looks, it is to be hoped that the rest of the corruptionists will be safely boxed.

LATER.—Since the foregoing was written a dispatch announces that Ward has been convicted. The chances for the desirable boxing are improving.

The English royal commission which reported after investigation that opium is a comparatively harmless drug as used by the Chinese and other orientals, was evidently actuated more by British interests in the opium trade than by any other motive. Had it not been so, the report would have also given publicity to the fact that this drug, which may be used with impunity by the people of the orient, is a prolific source of physical and moral death to the Caucasian race. The report as given is calculated to do much harm, for its tendency will be to weaken prejudice against opium among people to whom its use means certain destruction.

These people of Fresno regret that Mr. Spreckels did not find it consistent with his many pressing business duties to pay a visit of inspection to this city at this time, as stated to have been his intention by Henry Miller, who accompanied him on his recent trip as far as Bakersfield. The people here desire that Mr. Spreckels, as the chief promoter of the competing road and beet sugar production in California, should become personally familiar with the varied resources of this locality, and delay in that respect is a dispiacement. In the nature of things it cannot, however, be long until Fresno is granted the attention she deserves.

And now the "silver Democrats" of Texas are taking steps to meet in convention. Verily, Grover will find it difficult to stop the ball which he has set in motion. Even he cannot put a quietus on an avalanche before it has run its course.

John Conley of Modena has been selected as grand orator of the Native Sons of the Golden West. Congratulations are in order, both for the Judge and Modena. It is not every infant county seat that can boast of a prize orator.

President Cleveland is said to be rapidly gaining in flesh again. But the rest of the country is not.

A board of supervisors in Kane county, Illinois, has decided not to furnish aid to any family who keeps dogs. Why draw the line at dogs, when big gloves and chewing gum are roaming about the country devouring the substance of the poor man?

A prominent friend of the President says that he is the one Democrat whom the Republicans are afraid of. They are afraid of him as the President, but as a political opponent he only excites their wrath.

RANDOM REMARKS.

The sheriff of Santa Clara county has issued an order that henceforth all of his deputies must provide themselves with bicycles. In behalf of the bicycle manufacturers thanks are hereby extended to the worthy sheriff.

Now, Rev. Dr. R. Heber Newton of New York, and Rev. Charles C. L. of Savannah, have decided to preach that Christ's resurrection was not of the body, but of the distinctly spiritual. They are reported as keeping them up purifying and rarifying, they will get them down so fine after a while that even the most hopeless and benighted skeptic can accept it without seriously injuring his conscience. Even if it is, some of the evils are not nearly as thick as they used to be.

"Yes, Marier," said Farmer Jaxon, "the Republican party delights in perpetuating infant industries. They say it's that you say—then would teach the baby to walk by means of constitutionalism?" "No, you say it wouldn't. What gives it would be fostering infant industry, boy! Master, you make me hear weary. It's no use your groanin' round after Republicanism, anyway; it takes people of sense to belong to that party. What's that agin'—what do I belong fer? Marier, if it was for my children I'd give up an idea broken-hearted man. It's hard for family pr'd's."

If all the women would do as Dr. Anna Leman Griffin of Memphis, Indiana, that the world would be a much better place. She was sitting at the end of a seat, and the terrible heat struck two men who were between her and the wall. They tried to get out and treat their burning stomachs. She refused to move, and they called a policeman to move her—she said the job he would have had—but the manager ruled that she had paid for her seat, and didn't have to move. So, like Simpson's cow, they went dry. Unfortunately, or fortunately, however, there is but one Dr. Anna Leman Griffin, and she lives a good ways east.

Claus Spreckels, who has been on a visit to Hanford and Visalia, returned to San Francisco yesterday. But if it was his plan, he changed it and returned to San Francisco.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN

Stuff for Filling Around the Artist's Pictures.

WHO WAS IT CLIPPED DE HOY?

Money Invested in Cattle and Litigation—Capability That is Good Enough Sometimes.

The artist came to me, and said:

"I've made some pretty pictures, and I wish you would write some stiff to fill in around them. You needn't mind about its quality; anything will do, because the pictures will speak for themselves. Of course they are artistic, and they really ought to have something esthetic to go with them, but if you don't seem to evolve anything of that sort easily, just print out any kind of rot that's natural to you, I tell you," said theorist, looking at the pictures lovingly, "there is a grace and beauty about these pictures that only occasionally finds its way upon paper. They'll speak for themselves."

Here's the filling:

The painful tale of a young person, who quite naturally and her native town by the sea, grace and more than charming ease.

With which she bagged her boy and modest and rode upon her wheel. "They look!" they said.

Earth and youth unto the eager breed, At last she rode—beauties bright, I ween—Upon the realities, highly-tiled machine.

Her boy, black in fondness aucted to cigar.

Who wouldn't be a leggut?—As a wing She flew, and the world, and the world, and the world, and—into all—journey where.

Oh, how sweet as Araminta Brown Is the little hamlet, doleful or town; And, last you think me false—which Heaven forbids!

Why, here's the picture, which the artist "did."

He Wants to Buy the Barton, or Will Build a New Theater.

GUSTAV WALTER'S MISSION IN FRESNO.

He Wants to Buy the Barton, or Will Build a New Theater.

Gustav Walter, who is well and favorably known as a lessee of theaters in San Francisco, Los Angeles, Denver and other cities, paid a visit to Fresno yesterday and had a long talk with the Barton in reference to the purchase of the Barton opera house.

It was stated around town that the figure offered was $65,000, but that Mr. Barton was not disposed to accept that amount. There were other reasons, which it is said, and among the principal, that the value of the building is unknown. Mr. Walter looked at several sites for building a theater yesterday, his idea being to run his various enterprises with stock companies in each, a fashion as to give every night in the year.

Mr. Walter left town yesterday for San Francisco. He had not made any definite arrangements, but that he would establish a branch of his theatrical enterprises there, may be inferred from his statement.

Mr. Walter's idea is to fill the gap between San Francisco and Los Angeles.

The company coming south from Portland via San Francisco may strike a central point in the valley for a passing show. It was stated yesterday that if Mr. Walter does not secure the Barton he will try to get a 20-year lease of the building, and build a theater at once.
